

Famous Pacific Shipping Official logistics provider for Construction Expo 2017

Famous Pacific Shipping Lanka Ltd. (FPS) has been appointed as the official logistics partner by the Lanka Exhibitions and Conference Services (LECS) for Construction Expo 2017 covering the services of freight, customs clearance, transport warehousing and off-loading. Exhibition will be held at Sirimavo Bandaranaike Memorial Exhibition Centre on 2, 3 and 4 June.

FPS is a globally recognised freight logistics company in Sri Lanka representing over 100 countries and 4,000 ports and destinations around the world. Consistency in the industry for over 18 years, Famous Pacific Shipping is experts in handling freight logistics – sea and air, project cargo logistics, warehousing, inland transportation and logistics-based IT solutions.

Construction Expo 2017 will be the hub for all major players locally and internationally which provides a common platform for all industries that link with construction and will give the participants a chance to showcase their products and services which cover all spheres related to the industry. It will be the meeting point for the domestic and international products and technology suppliers to explore the potential in the construction industry in the South Asian region.

Gihan Nanayakkara, Managing Director of the SAS Holdings Group, parent company of FPS Sri Lanka, stated: “We are proud to partner this prestigious event which is happening for the sixth consecutive year at BMICH.”

FPS General Manager M.F Ibrahim stated: “With the rapid development in the construction field in Sri Lanka, this is a great platform for all the products and service providers to link with construction. We are also proud to state that we have represented many of the past and present infrastructure, power-road-water projects in Sri Lanka as the logistics service provider and have earmarked some of the upcoming projects to be executed in the year 2017.
